CLINIC VIOLENCE

Defend Abortion Rights

Every day anti-choice demonstrators gather in front of women's health care clinics throughout Boston. Most pray, others yell. Their presence poses a threat to the safety of the women seeking medical services — including abortion — and to the staff who work there. Their actions continue to intimidate and harass women who exercise their right to choose.

Cardinal Law's decision to lift his earlier call for a moratorium on these demonstrations has resulted in increased numbers at their monthly anti-choice vigils. NOW asks women and men to join them in showing support for safe, legal and accessible abortion and comprehensive reproductive health care for all women.

B█, now 30, says the clinic would not give her the results of a urine test over the telephone. When she went to the clinic to get the results, she claims she was not told immediately whether she was pregnant.

Instead, B█ alleges, she was escorted into a room with two women who questioned her about her personal life, sexual activity and religious beliefs. "They used a lot of psychological pressure to try to persuade me that if I were pregnant (which I was) I should not have an abortion. They said something like: 'God wants you to have this baby.'"

"I felt as though I had been tricked by the promise of a free pregnancy test. This was the means by which they got me to agree to a free 'counseling' session," B█ claims in her complaint.

COALITION TO DEFEND ABORTION RIGHTS

The Coalition to Defend Abortion Rights (CDAR) is composed of diverse groups and individuals fighting for reproductive freedom. Members hold a wide range of political views, but share the belief that a woman's right to choose abortion must be maintained. We have come together to defend the fundamental right of women to take charge of their own bodies.

Hello my name is _____ and I'm calling from Boston
NOW. Have you got a moment for me to give you an update
Operation Rescue?

(if NO ask for another time to call)

First of all thank you for joining us on Saturday. We really appreciate everyone who helped to make the action such a success.

Unfortunately it is ^{likely} rumored that Operation Rescue may be here this Saturday in an effort to carry out their original plan. It is real important that we be ready for them with a clear pro-choice message, which will hopefully send them away for good. We are preparing to do another action in the event that they do arrive this weekend. Would you be willing to contact other people about this (20 or more or less) and make calls to those people on Saturday once we have word about what Operation Rescue is doing?

between 1:30-9:30

(if NO ask them if they themselves can call the NOW office on Sat. morning and come to an action if neccassary or can they help us phonebank) - Thurs. / Fri.

In addition you may already be familiar with the campaign of incumbent State Rep. Sandra Graham. Sandra lost her primary by only a few votes and is now running a sticker campaign.
Would you be interested in working on Sandra's campaign?

(if NO remind them to vote for Sandra next Tues.)

Finnally, as you can probably imagine it takes a lot of effort to fight an attack such as Operation Rescue as well as a lot of money. Boston NOW has spent hundreds of dollars in phonecalls, printing, mailings etc. to organize this effort. So far we've been successful in combating the right wing's attacks on Boston but we can only do this with your help. Would you be able to make a contribution of $25 at this time?

(If YES take down info, check address, fill out pledge form -
NOTE we will accept donations of less than $25 but suggest this amount to begin with)

Winter Clothing

Insulated jackets of down, polyguard, or thinsulate are best. Down is useless when wet but extremely light and warm when dry. Hats conserve body heat. Gloves and mittens are a must.

Protect yourself from the wind. Windproof hooded garments of uncoated nylon or Goretex are necessary to prevent heat loss. Rain gear can serve as wind gear, but wind gear cannot double as rain gear (except for Goretex).

Rain and snow- Ponchos are fine unless there is wind or the rain is heavy; then they're useless. Under these conditions you need a coated nylon rain parka or full length anorak called a cagoule. All rain and wind gear should be full cut to leave room to wear layers of clothing underneath. Hoods are really necessary.

If you get wet and cold, you are headed for trouble...hypothermia. Cotton absorbs water and loses its insulating properties. Wet cotton will wick heat away from your skin. Wool, polyester (pile or bunting) or polypropylene garments will keep you warm even when wet.

Hypothermia

Hypothermia is the lowering of an individual's internal body temperature. Since humans are warm-blooded creatures they require a constant body temperature to survive. The body maintains its core temperature constant by controlling heat production and heat loss. There is a part of the brain called the hypothalamus which regulates these two functions. When the human body is subject to conditions which decrease heat production or increase heat loss beyond what the hypothalamus can control then hypothermia results.

Prevention of hypothermia:

Prevention of hypothermia involves preventing heat loss, encouraging heat production, and detecting emerging illness early.

*Control Evaporation

Regulate clothing layers to prevent sweating.
Cover the nose and mouth with wool.

*Control Convection & Conduction

Cover bare skin, head, neck, and hands.

Wear clothing that does not absorb water (avoid cotton).

Heat production can be encouraged in several ways:

*Eat food rich in calories (avoid diet foods).

*Eat warm food and drink warm beverages.

*If possible, keep moving and exercising.

MOTHERS AND OTHERS:

A CABARET ABOUT ABORTION RIGHTS AND CHOICE

In response to the Supreme Court's decision to reconsider Roe v. Wade, Underground Railway Theater revives MOTHERS AND OTHERS, a cabaret about choice, abortion rights, and women's control over their bodies and lives.

In a matter of months, the abortion rights issue has taken center stage in the public consciousness. It is very possible, some say inevitable, that the momentous Roe vs. Wade decision will be reversed or severely altered. Dialogue between the "pro-choice" and "pro-life" groups has virtually ended; slogans and chants have replaced debate while groups such as "Operation Rescue" have begun to physically infringe upon a woman's right to choose an abortion.

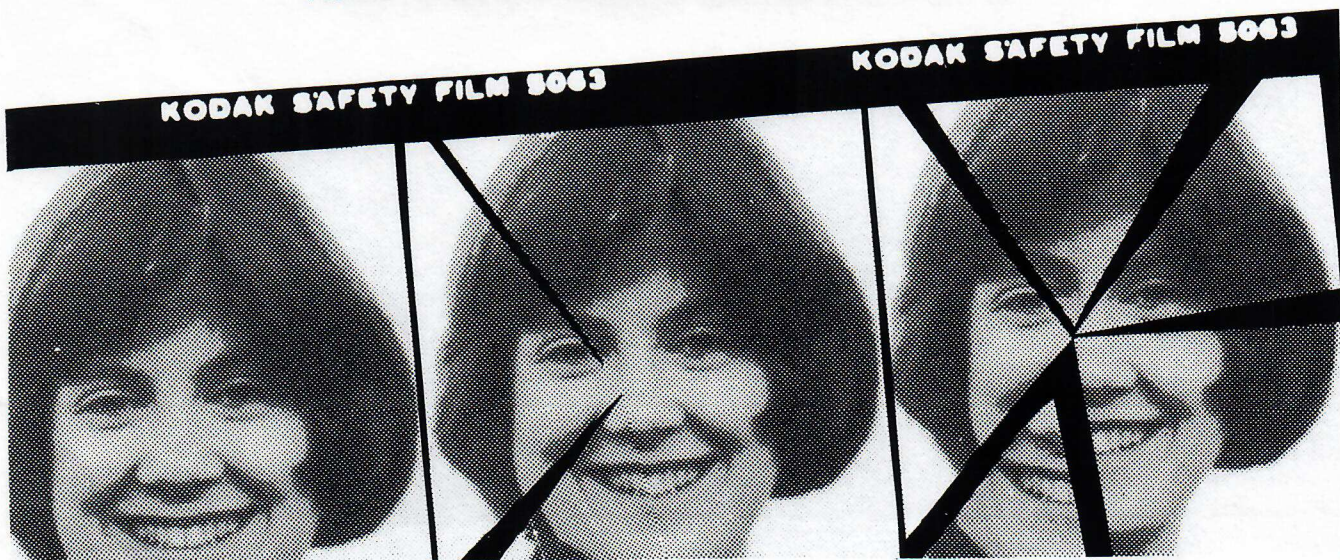

MOTHERS AND OTHERS is a one-woman cabaret theater piece designed by URT co-director Debra Wise to provoke thought and discussion about abortion rights, taking the position that no choice is easy or obvious. In this collage of docu-drama, comedy, poetry, and song, women tell of the tangled web of roles, values, and choices that make up their lives. One character celebrates the wonder and joy of motherhood, while simultaneously wondering if she is losing her mind, creativity, and self. With a deep understanding of the choices and challenges involved, she chooses to have a second child. In another scene (taken from a 1971 courtroom transcript), an abortion "trial" highlights how the rhetoric of the abortion issue has obscured women's traumatic experiences of illegal operations and ignored the difficulties that any choice entails.

Drawing from such diverse sources as Anne Sexton, Billy Holiday, Kate Millet, and Adrienne Rich, the cabaret encourages people of diverse backgrounds to understand complex issues. The cabaret also features an "interview the audience" segment that invites people in an anonymous and enjoyable way to relate these women's choices to their own. In 1988, the show was featured at the National Women in Theater Festival in Boston. This 75-minute program may be performed in small theaters, clubs, and coffeehouses with a minimum of technical requirements. Music provided by the accompanist before the show and informal discussion with the actress afterwards makes a full evening. Workshops related to the play also available.

Booking now for a limited run.

Please contact Susan McCully, General Manager,
Underground Railway theater, 41 Foster St., Arlington, MA 02174, (617) 643-6916.

Clinic doctor's record shows sexual misconduct

By VANESSA PARKS
STAFF WRITER

HYANNIS — The gynecologist who plans to perform the Cape's first elective abortions was disciplined for sexual misconduct in 1984 by the state Board of Registration in Medicine.

Dr. Howard J. Silverman, owner of the medical office WomanCare and a counseling service, Choices, was placed on probation by the board for three years, from 1984 to 1987, according to Trice Atchison, spokeswoman for the board. She confirmed that the issue was sexual misconduct but said she did not have immediate access to a document with details of the charge.

The incident involved a young female patient referred to Silverman by Children's Hospital in Boston, according to a board document obtained by an anti-abortion group. While treating the patient in his private practice, on two separate occasions, Silverman "placed his mouth on the patient's breasts for several minutes," the document states.

The document was given to the Cape Cod Times by members of Massachusetts Citizens for Life of Cape Cod who picketed outside the doctor's office on Camp Street in Hyannis yesterday.

Attempts to reach Silverman for comment were unsuccessful.

Silverman also owns Repro Associates in Brookline and Womancare in New Bedford. On the Cape, he has owned Choices since it opened in 1985, said Marilyn Turner, director of the counseling and referral agency.

Choices has merged with WomanCare, Silverman's medical office providing gynecological services and abortions. The two now operate out of the Camp Street location.

Ms. Turner, who has worked for Silverman for seven years, said she was not aware of the disciplinary action against him.

"I suppose if one dug enough one could dig up something on any doctor or town official," Ms. Turner said.

Ms. Turner said a nurse practitioner, not Silverman, does many of the routine gynecological examinations.

According to the Board of Registration in Medicine document, Silverman's patient reported the sexual misconduct to staff at Children's Hospital and, when confronted by the hospital's attorney, Silverman admitted the incidents occurred.

As a result of the incidents, Silverman's privileges were suspended by Brigham and Women's Hospital, Newton-Wellesley Hospital, New England Baptist Hospital, and, by mutual agreement, at Children's Hospital, according to the state document. He currently has privileges at Hahnemann Hospital in Brighton.

The document states that Silverman's conduct violated a section of state law dealing with "gross misconduct" and another section dealing with "practicing medicine while the ability to practice medicine is impaired by mental instability."

The specific terms of his probation were not available either, but Ms. Atchison said it probably included some kind of monitoring or supervision of his practice.

Meanwhile, Doreen Marinelli of Sandwich, a member of the anti-abortion group Massachusetts Citizens for Life of Cape Cod, said the group would picket "peacefully" outside WomanCare at least one day each week. About 35 protesters and 15 children, mostly infants and toddlers, were at the scene yesterday.

The group also plans to offer "sidewalk counseling" on abortion alternatives to those women going to Silverman for abortions, Mrs. Marinelli said.

Choices provides counseling on all three pregnancy options — keeping a baby, adoption and abortion — to its clients, Ms. Turner said. The agency does about 2,000 pregnancy tests a year, she said. For the past two years, about 60 percent of those pregnant opted to continue their pregnancies, while 40 percent chose to terminate them, she said.

Ms. Turner said that no one canceled an appointment yesterday because of the picket.

"I have to say deep in my heart I believe in their right to be out there picketing," Ms. Turner said. "I'm not saying that I think it's wonderful that they're out there and we want them there, but they have a right to be there."

"Once they come onto our property, however, they will be arrested, because this is private property," she said.

WOMEN'S LIVES ARE ON THE LINE

ABORTION RIGHTS: 1973 - ?

Any day now, the Supreme Court will announce its decision concerning the most serious legal attack to abortion in 16 years. This spring the Court heard a Missouri case, Webster v. Reproductive Health Services, and might now put severe restrictions on abortion rights. The Court could even decide to remove all federal protection of abortion—or to outlaw it entirely. We will know any day.

Women's lives and health are threatened by the Court's actions, by any amendment to Roe v. Wade. Women will be forced to seek illegal abortions; they will self-abort; they will die. We cannot let this happen.

When the Supreme Court states its decision—even if it states that it will wait to put restrictions on abortion until it hears more ~~damaging~~ cases—we must respond. We must tell them that no restriction on our right to choose is acceptable; that we will fight for every woman's right and every woman's life.

THE NIGHT THE COURT DECIDES, WE MUST RALLY FOR OUR RIGHTS!

We must show the strength of the pro-choice movement and our determination to fight for safe, legal and funded abortions.

Listen for the Supreme Court's announcement of its decision*; then join us to demonstrate that evening.

PICKET at the FEDERAL COURT HOUSE*
from 5:30 to 7:30 pm

RALLY at GOVERNMENT CENTER at 7:30 pm

Also join us the day after for a rally in front of the State House, from noon to 1 pm.

*Court decisions are usually announced at 10 AM; listen to the radio for news.

Post Office Square, Congress & Water Streets, Government Center T stop.

For more information, and to get involved, call the Boston NOW office at 782-1056 or the NOW hotline, 782-4059.

STOP CLINIC TERRORISM JOIN THE FIGHT TO PROTECT ABORTION RIGHTS

Roe v. Wade, the Supreme Court decision recognizing women's right to abortion, might be overturned this June. If it is—or if it is in any way restricted—women's lives will be lost.

Women's rights and lives are on the line—and not only because of the Court's actions.

"Operation Rescue," the most visible and violent of the anti-abortion groups, continues its attacks on women's health clinics. Its pickets, intimidation and attempts to close clinics put women at risk.

WE MUST DEFEND EVERY WOMAN'S ACCESS TO ABORTION

And we have. Not a single clinic in the Boston area has fallen to "Operation Rescue."

Each time they have attacked a clinic, pro-choice activists have been there, helping women get in, keeping access to the clinic doors free, and making a strong statement.

We have been winning this battle; the anti-choice forces are demoralized. But we cannot stop here. We must continue our pressure as they change their tactics. Every aggressive "vigil" and every violent attack must be answered. We must be at the clinics whenever "Operation Rescue" attacks.

WE WILL NOT BE TURNED BACK THE PRO-CHOICE MAJORITY WILL STAND UP FOR WOMEN'S RIGHTS

Please join us at the clinics for counter-demonstrations, from 7:30 am to noon each Saturday, until the Supreme Court decides on the Missouri case.

Contact the Boston NOW Office for further information and clinic addresses; also to join in our collective response to the Court's decision.

The resolution would not have altered any state laws, but it was seen as a crucial test vote on Beacon Hill by prochoice and anti-abortion forces convinced the abortion issue will eventually be decided at the state level.

that may result in a decision this summer that could revise or scrap the landmark 1973 Roe vs. Wade ruling that legalized abortion. Such a ruling could again give the states jurisdiction over the abortion issue.

Even if the court leaves Roe vs. Wade intact, many abortion-rights advocates said yesterday they believe the decision would be a temporary one. Nikki Nichols Gamble, director of the Planned Parenthood League of Massachusetts, said President Bush will probably appoint more antiabortionists to the court in the future, virtually ensuring the overturning of Roe vs. Wade.

"I think there's going to be hundreds of votes like this over the next two years," Gamble said.

The debate yesterday was emotional on both sides. Doris, illustrating his belief that life begins at conception, told the story of how his wife had a miscarriage 30 years ago. He said he looked at what remained of the fetus and saw nothing but a bit of blood. He took the remains to the hospital and was told by the doctor that, had the baby lived, it would have been a boy. "That's where I come from on the issue," Doris said.

Roe vs. Wade blasted

Sen. Edward Kirby (R-Whitman), who voted in favor of the resolution, said abortion was a form of murder. He blasted Roe vs. Wade as part of an out-of-control trend in America toward free choice in everything, including drugs, sexual orientation and sex.

"Don't encourage our society to hurt itself through freedom of choice," Kirby said, citing young girls who have gotten pregnant because society has told them, "if it feels good, that's OK, do it."

Opponents of the measure focused on a woman's right to choose whether she wants an abortion and the privacy of that decision.

Sen. William Golden (D-Weymouth) said government has no role in making abortion decisions. He said barring abortions will not stop them, only prevent access to medical care for the poor. "This resolution won't stop abortions any more than Roe vs. Wade mandated abortions," Golden said.

WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 24 AT NOON

Harvard/Radcliffe Students for Choice presents:
ABORTION AND THE SUPREME COURT

What is Roe v. Wade?

In this 1973 landmark case, the Supreme Court ruled that the decision to have an abortion during the first trimester of pregnancy must be left entirely to the woman and her physician, and that the only reason a state can regulate abortion during the second trimester is to protect the woman's health.

What is the Hyde Amendment?

Prior to 1977 Medicaid funding--a joint federal-state program that pays for medical care for families of very low income--paid the medical fees for approximately 20% of women obtaining abortions in the U.S. In 1977, the Supreme Court ruled that states did not have to fund what they considered "medically unnecessary" (varies from state to state) abortions. Currently, fewer than half of the states pay for abortions for women who became pregnant by rape or incest and/or who have identified that the fetus has severe defects. Only thirteen states pay for abortions in all or most circumstances.

It is interesting to note that Medicaid funding for sterilization remains available. It seems no coincidence that when the Illinois government cut funding for Medicaid abortions in 1980, the number of government-funded sterilizations doubled in the state. Lack of abortion availability to poor women and women of color compounds sterilization abuse.

What is Webster v. Reproductive Health Services?

The July 3, 1989 Supreme Court decision 1) Upheld the Missouri law's prohibition on the use of public facilities (or private facilities on public land) and public employees to perform abortions, even if the abortion itself is privately funded. 2) Upheld the provision requiring that a physician must perform viability tests on a fetus s/he has "reason to believe" is at least twenty weeks old. 3) Found that a provision of the Missouri state law declaring that "the life of each human being begins at conception" simply expresses a value judgement and does not interfere with or regulate abortion decisions.

What does this mean in practical terms?

- The prohibition of the use of public employees/public facilities leaves a woman with fewer choices. As Justice Harry A. Blackmun wrote, there may be no choice at all for a woman "too sick or too poor to travel."
- Forcing doctors to perform fetus viability tests increases the cost of an abortion and will perhaps make it difficult if not impossible to obtain a lawful abortion if there is a chance that the fetus could survive outside the womb.
- The near-overruling of Roe v. Wade will encourage more test cases in the area, and, and Justice Blackmun wrote, "implicitly invites every state legislature to enact more and more restrictive abortion regulations in order to provoke more and more test cases in the hope that sometime down the line the court will return the law of procreative freedom to the severe limitations that prevailed" prior to Roe v. Wade

What is upcoming?

- Turnock v. Ragsdale involves a series of Illinois statutes and regulations that, like the law in Webster interfere with women's access to abortion services. The laws require that all facilities that perform abortions must comply with structural, equipment, and staffing requirements that the Illinois District Court and U.S. Court of Appeals found to be unrelated to the performance of safe abortions but which would necessitate the huge expense of constructing "the functional equivalent of small hospitals." Also involved is a statute preventing anyone with "financial interest" in the decision (i.e., the doctor) from providing abortion counseling, thus effectively raising costs even further.
- Ohio v. Akron Center for Reproductive Health involves a law that requires a physician to give 24 hours notice to a minor's parent/guardian prior to the abortion procedure. Notification only be avoided through a "judicial bypass procedure" in which a minor must convince the court that she is mature enough to make the decision. This procedure has been ruled unconstitutional by the U.S. Court of Appeals because it is extremely difficult to implement, does not protect the minor's anonymity, and results in dangerous delays of up to 22 days. The state argues that the procedure is adequate and that it need not provide any bypass at all, even for cases of incest or minors suffering physical abuse.
- Hodgson v. Minnesota involves a law that requires a minor to notify both parents prior to an abortion, even if they are divorced or never married or even if one parent objects to the notification of the other. It makes no exceptions for non-custodial parents who have never met the minor or who have been barred by protective order from visiting her. Abortion is prohibited until 48 hours after notice has been given, which has resulted in significant delays and a rise in second-trimester abortions.

What can I do?

On Sunday, November 12, hundreds of thousands of women and men will join the National Mobilization for Women's Lives in Washington, D.C., to voice their conviction that all women have the right to choose a safe and legal abortion. URGENT NEWS! MARCH ON WASHINGTON
FOR REPRODUCTIVE RIGHTS

The National Organization for Women has just issued a call to action. Over one million women and men will rally for reproductive rights in November!

The recent Supreme Court abortion rights decision showed the Court's disregard for women—especially for those who are poor or young. The federal government cannot be allowed to turn its back on civil rights, on women's rights—on women's lives.

We must show the force and breadth of the pro-choice movement and must continue to put pressure on those in power.

We must mobilize for the largest demonstration in Washington in history.

Join us. Come to the first organizing meeting for this mobilization:

August 1st, 7 p.m.
SEIU, Local 285 (7th floor)
145 Tremont St., Boston

Organizing meetings will be held on Thursdays. Call the NOW office for dates and locations at 782-1056 or 782-4059.

BOSTON NOW SUMMARY OF FEMINIST VOTING RECORDS

Listed below are the elected officials from Massachusetts and a sampling of their stands on women's issues. Please write to your legislator and express your appreciation of or disappointment in her/his public position on these issues.

The abortion rights record is based on a vote taken on a 1988 bill designed to restrict a minor's access to abortion. Many legislators who typically vote pro-choice received a negative mark because they supported this bill which would allow for parental involvement in judicial procedures for minors seeking abortion.

The Lesbian and Gay Civil Rights Bill has been reintroduced for the 16th time in the Massachusetts Legislature. The House vote shown here is from March 29, 1989, when the bill passed through the House with a vote of 75 - 72 (13 not voting). The Senate record reflects votes taken both in 1987 and 1988.

The UP AND OUT OF POVERTY votes were taken in both the House and the Senate as part of the UP AND OUT OF POVERTY Campaign strategy to raise the benefit level for recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC). In the Senate, the last vote taken on the Up To Poverty Bill was in 1986. The House votes shown here were taken in 1989 on the following amendments:

Vote 1 = 6% COLA (Cost of Living Allowance) , $10 Rent Supplement

Vote 2 = Survival Package (increase benefits up to poverty level), no COLA, $20 Rent Supp.

The anti-abortion resolution came before the Senate in late May of 1989. The Senate defeated the proposed resolution (23 - 16) that would have supported a "life begins at conception" theory. We have listed a pro-choice vote as a "+" for consistency.

NATIONAL MOBILIZATION FOR WOMEN'S LIVES
CAMPUS ORGANIZING TIPS

SET GOALS FOR DELEGATIONS AND MOBILIZERS

Set them HIGH and get creative about how you are going to achieve them. A delegation is twenty or more mobilizers who will carry a banner identifying their group. Your campus may choose to mobilize as a single delegation (many organizational delegations will be several hundred strong) or you may choose to have several delegations from various groups on campus. Don't overlook other divisions of your University-Graduate Programs, Professional Schools, unions, faculty.

ESTABLISH AN ORGANIZING COMMITTEE

Plan an informational Mobilization planning meeting on campus to discuss the purpose of the Mobilization and to strategize for mobilizing your campus. Invite everyone!! Put up notices around campus, call every campus organization and supportive faculty and administrators. Continue recruiting volunteers: there is work for everyone.

PRICE AND RESERVE BUSES

Call several firms to get the best bid, and find out arrangements on deposits and final payment. Check out the possibility of using campus buses, vans or vehicles. To get firm commitments, it's a good idea to get bus tickets printed to sell. Price the tickets above cost to cover scholarships and no-shows. It may be a good idea to have a bus coordinator for each bus or for every two or three buses. Regardless of how you come - bus, car or van - it's great to travel caravan style. Put signs in the window of the vehicle saying where you're going and why.

TABLES, LEAFLETS AND POSTERS

Set up tables in places where student organizations on campus usually congregate to pass out information. Students are used to checking here for news of "what's happening". Additionally, try other highly visible and heavily trafficked locations such as the cafeteria, library, and student union. Have lots of information to pass out, sign-up sheets for organizing activities and tickets to sell.

Put up posters or flyers around campus. Be prepared to re-post every week. Make sure the posters and leaflets are always up in high traffic areas like student unions and libraries and in every dorm, by the mailboxes, and near vending machines.

Pass out leaflets or flyers at any events you feel are appropriate. Leaflet at campus-wide events and target specific events connected with women's rights, or speakers and films sponsored by political women's groups on campus.

SPREADING THE WORD

The key words for organizing are "personal contact". Talk up the Mobilization at every opportunity...to friends at lunch, to classes, to organizations and groups. Your goal is to make this Mobilization an event that no one would miss. Send speakers to campus organizations and classes to promote the Mobilization and urge participation. Use the enclosed fact sheets and do some additional research so you can speak to classes on the topics of abortion and birth control, and the Equal Rights Amendment.

Arrange to have, or coordinate with any pro-choice speakers who are coming to campus. Organize a pro-choice rally with student and faculty speakers to hype the Mobilization. Representatives from NOW are available for speeches, workshops and rallies.

PUBLICITY

Write letters in your school newspapers; have feature articles written about the organizing effort on campus and coverage of a speech or rally for the Mobilization. Have notices placed in Alumnae publications. Send notices to local and college radio stations to announce next campus organizing meetings, ticket information and promotion of the Mobilization.

OUTREACH TO ORGANIZATIONS

Look for active groups who would tend to be supportive of the Mobilization. Contact each group and ask to speak at their next meeting. If appropriate, ask groups to pass endorsing resolutions - but...

THE MOST IMPORTANT THING IS TO GET PEOPLE COMMITTED TO GO TO THE MOBILIZATION !!

ABORTION MUST BE SAFE, LEGAL AND FUNDED

- We must go to Washington, to show our strength and our commitment to safe, legal and funded abortion for all women.
- This past spring, the Supreme Court attacked our basic right to abortion, while also gutting affirmative action and civil rights. This fall, the Court will hear 3 more abortion cases. By 1990, abortion could be a criminal act.
- This is the fight of our lives. We must fight for a woman's right to choose abortion, for civil and economic rights - and for justice and equality for all people.

EL ABORTO DEBE SER SEGURO, LEGAL Y FINANCIADO FEDERALMENTE

- Debemos ir a Washington para demostrar nuestra fuerza y dedicación al aborto seguro, legal y financiado federalmente para todas las mujeres.
- Esta primavera pasada, La Corte Suprema atacó nuestro derecho básico al aborto, la acción afirmativa y derechos civiles. Este otoño, la Corte oirá tres casos más sobre el aborto. Para el 1990 aborto podría convertirse en un acto criminal.
- Esta es la pelea de nuestras vidas. Debemos pelear por el derecho de la mujer para escoger el aborto por derechos civiles y económicos y por justicia e igualdad para todas las personas.

WOMEN'S LIVES ARE ON THE LINE!

DEFEND ACCESS TO ABORTION AND HEALTH CARE FOR ALL WOMEN

On October 3, 1977, Rosie Jiménez died of a back alley abortion. Her death could have been avoided; but Congress had passed the Hyde Amendment, which denies women federal funding for abortions. Rosie died because she did not have access to a funded, safe and legal abortion.

Rosie Jiménez was the first known victim of the Hyde Amendment. She was not the last. The conditions that forced her to her death still threaten many women's lives - especially the lives of poor women, young women, and women of color.

- The Supreme Court has attacked the abortion rights of all women. Their decisions seek to put further dangerous restrictions on a woman's right to choose abortion. On the streets, "Operation Rescue" terrorizes women seeking abortions. Clinics are bombed and blockaded.

- The state and federal governments have cut funds for pre-natal care, child care, programs for children and families, AIDS prevention and treatment, universal health care, and drug prevention and treatment.

- Funding cuts threaten Boston City Hospital, the primary health care provider for Boston's low income community.

¡LAS VIDAS DE LAS MUJERES ESTÁN EN PELIGRO!

DEFIENDE EL ACCESO AL ABORTO Y AL CUIDADO MÉDICO PARA TODAS LAS MUJERES

El 3 octubre del 1977, Rosie Jiménez murió de un aborto clandestino. Su muerte pudo haber sido evitada pero el Congreso había pasado el Hyde Amendment, una ley que le niega a las mujeres fondos federales para cubrir los costos del aborto. Rosie murió porque no tuvo acceso a un aborto seguro, pago, y legal.

Rosie Jiménez fue la primer víctima conocida del Hyde Amendment. No fue la última. Las condiciones que la llevaron a su muerte aún amenazan las vidas de muchas mujeres, especialmente las vidas de mujeres pobres, jóvenes, y de color.

-La Corte Suprema ha atacado el derecho al aborto para todas las mujeres. Con su decisión intenta imponer peligrosas restricciones sobre el derecho de una mujer para escoger el aborto. En la calle, "Operation Rescue" aterroriza a las mujeres quienes desean abortar. Las clínicas son bloqueadas y destruidas con explosivos.

-Los gobiernos estatales y el gobierno federal han reducido los fondos para el cuidado pre-natal, el cuidado de niños pequeños, programas de servicio para niños y familias, tratamiento y prevención del SIDA, el cuidado medico universal, y tratamiento y prevención de drogadicción.

-Reducciones adicionales amenazan a Boston City Hospital, el proveedor principal de cuidado médico para los necesitados de Boston. Sin recursos y suficientes empleados, los pacientes sufrirán; las reducciones pueden resultar fatales.

Harvard/Radcliffe Students for Choice

The National Mobilization for Women's Lives November 12, 1989 Washington, D.C.

What is the National Mobilization for Women's Lives?

On Sunday, November 12, 1989, hundreds of thousands of women and men who believe in free choice and equality will rally in Washington, D.C., to voice their conviction that all women have the right to choose a safe and legal abortion. This protest, sponsored by the National Organization for Women, will send a clear message to our government that the pro-choice majority will not stand silently by while our rights are stripped away.

Why is this march so important?

The Supreme Court's July decision in Webster v. Reproductive Services, which allows states to restrict a woman's access to abortion, is a threatening omen for defenders of choice in America. Roe v. Wade, the 1973 landmark case which at last established abortion as a constitutional right, is under serious attack by the courts, the administration, and the state and federal legislatures. Supreme Court cases scheduled for this fall may further limit our freedom to control our bodies. By marching on Washington, we will make it clear to our government that abortion is a national issue, and that we will not allow our most fundamental rights to be subject to the whims of state legislators. We now face the most serious threat to free choice in the sixteen years since Roe v. Wade. We must act now because tomorrow may be too late!

How can I defend my right to choose?

The Harvard/Radcliffe Students for Choice have arranged for busses to transport the Harvard contingent to Washington and back. The busses will leave at 8:30 p.m. on Saturday, November 11, and are expected to return around 3 or 4 a.m. on Monday, November 13. Round-trip tickets will be sold for $40 in the Harvard dining halls and elsewhere; reduced price tickets may be available for those with financial need. If you are interested in helping to organize the Harvard contingent to the march on Washington, we need your ability and enthusiasm! Let us show the nation that the students, faculty and employees of Harvard/Radcliffe are committed to choice.

NATIONAL MOBILIZATION FOR WOMEN'S LIVES

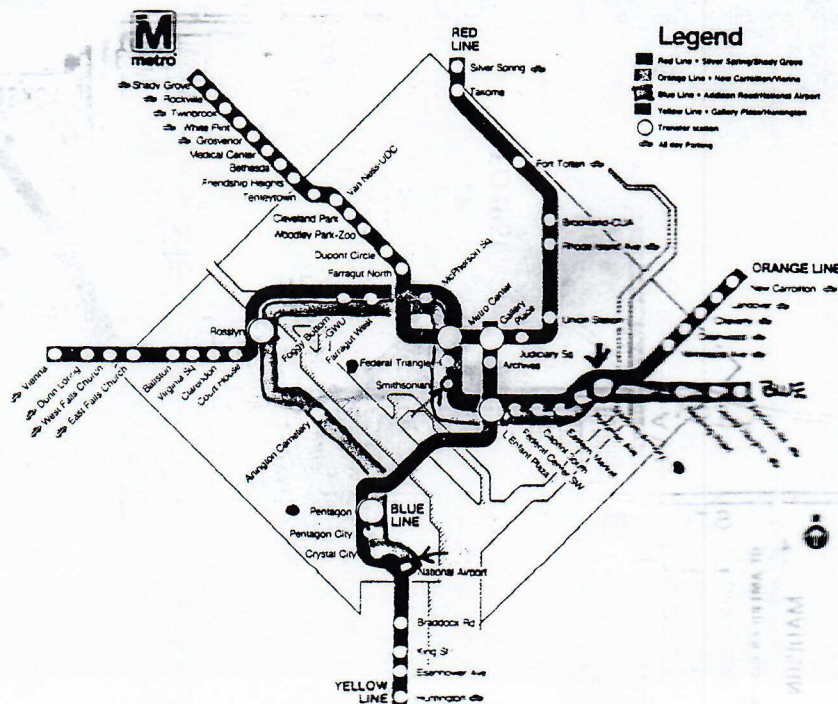

Washington, D.C. - Nov. 10th and 11th, 1989

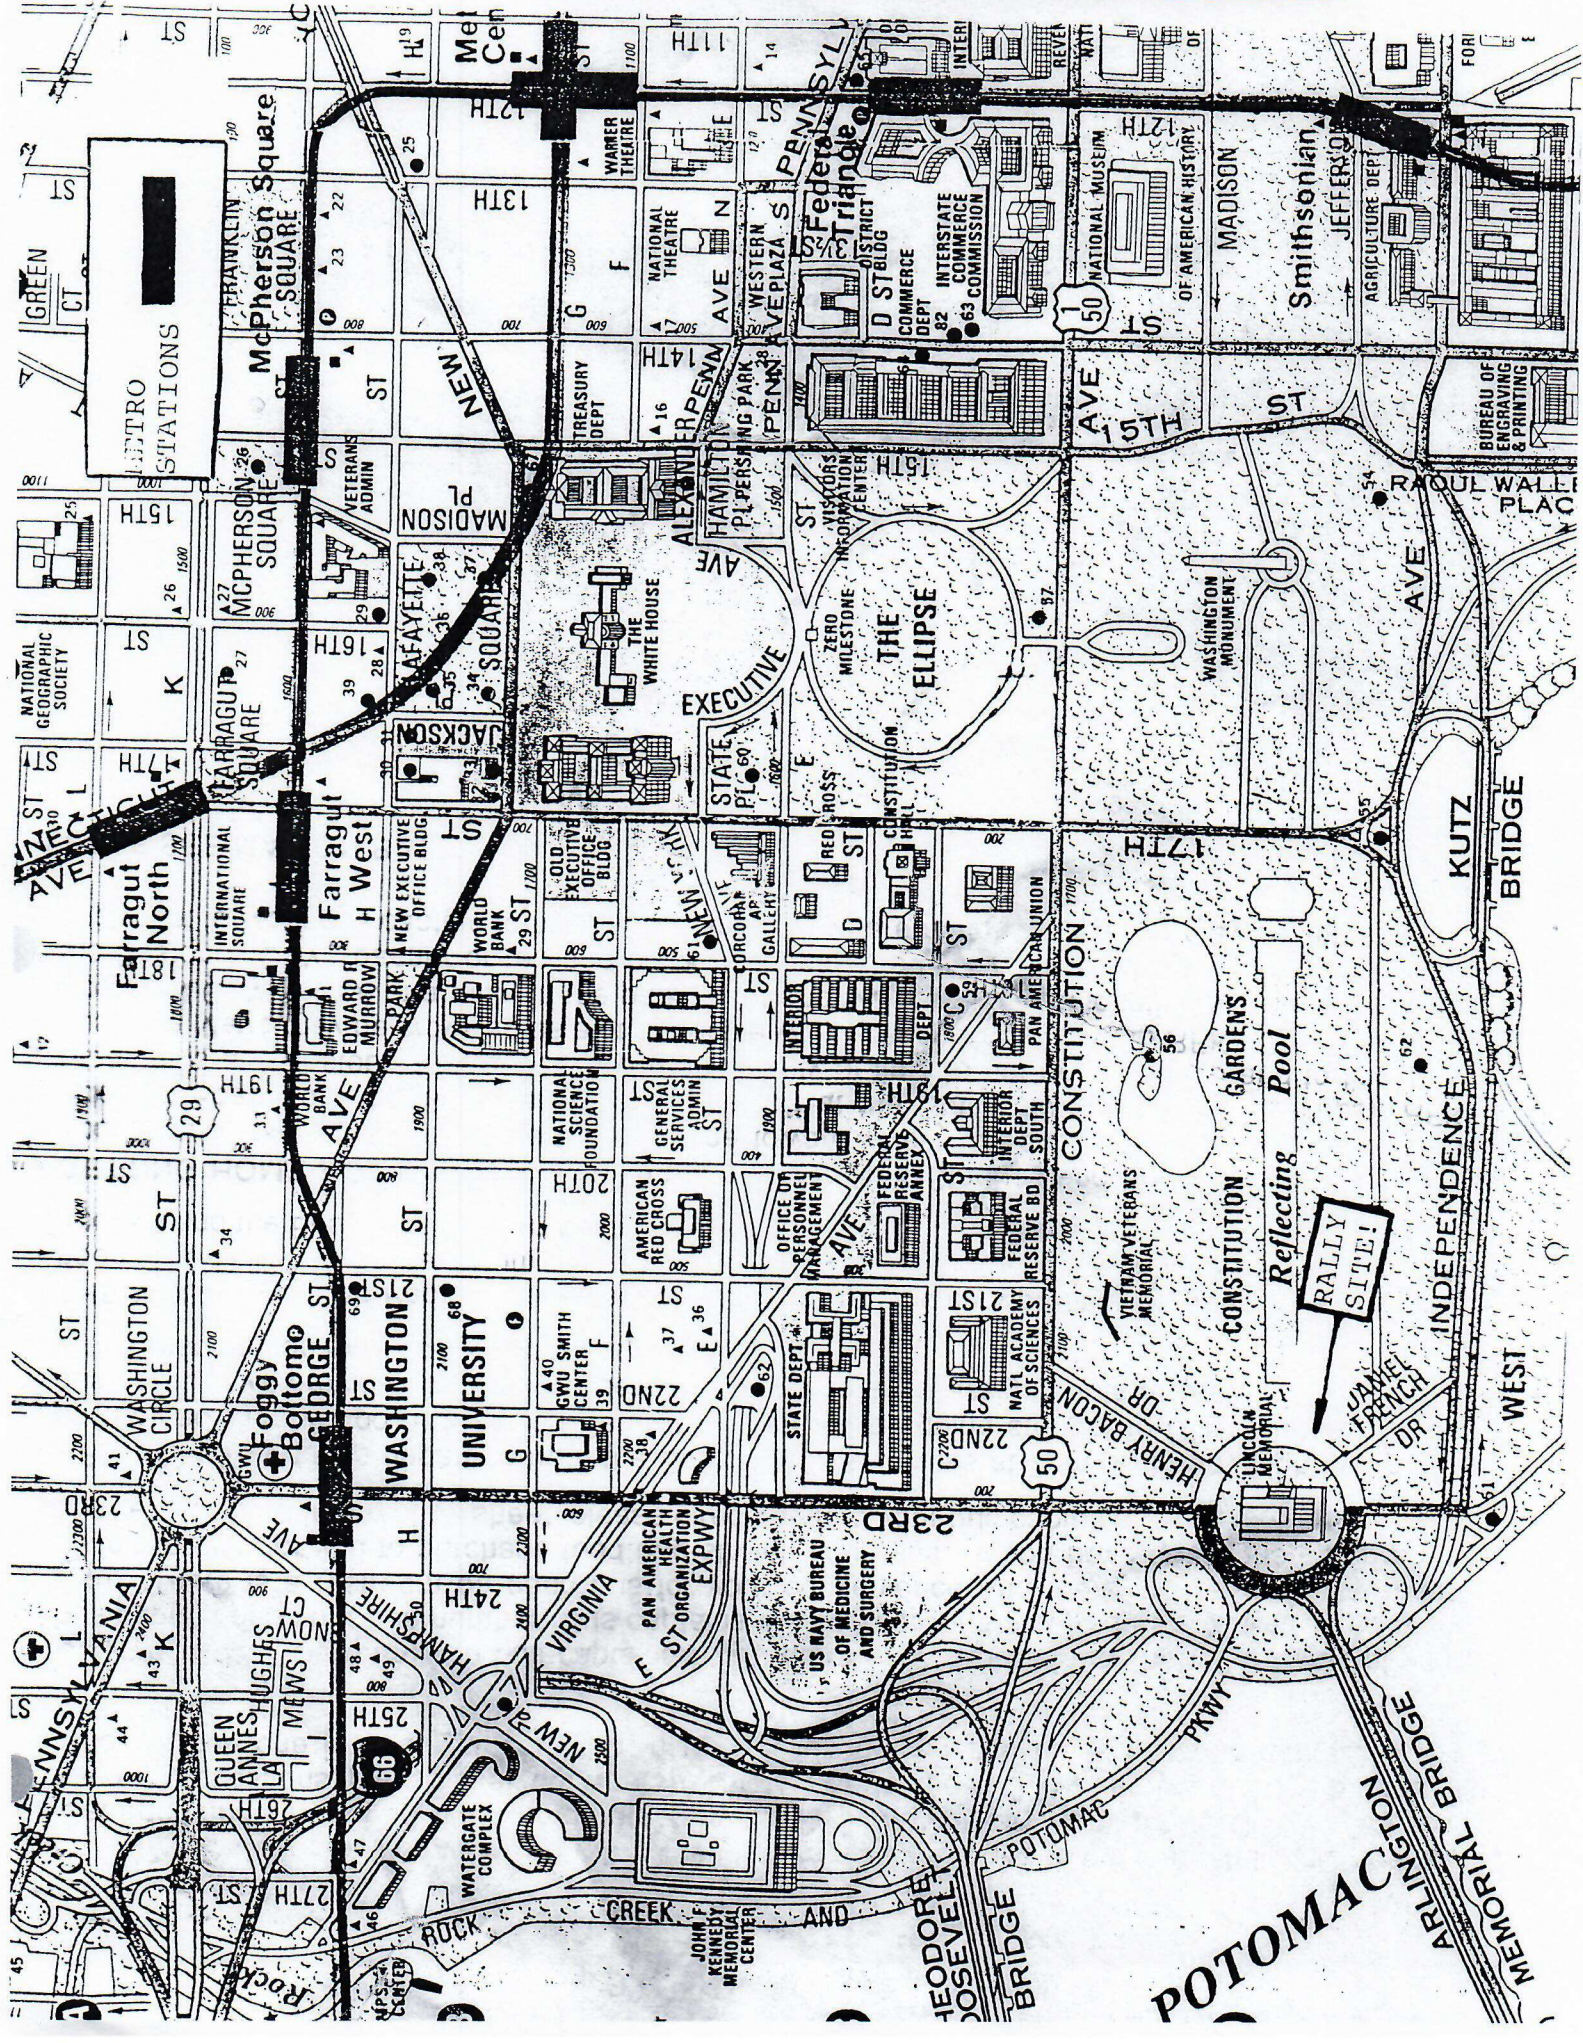

GENERAL INFORMATION SHEET - FRIDAY BUSES

This information sheet will provide you with all the information you need to get work the clinic defense on Saturday and get around Washington on Mobilization Day - including a map of D.C. If you lose it or have any questions, please seek out a representative of Boston N.O.W. wearing a red arm band. If you do not see one in your immediate vicinity, look for the red and black balloons carried by the Boston Delegation.

- ON THE BUS: There are two bus captains assigned to each bus. Please note the name of your bus captain and your bus number. Bus captains will send around a sign-up sheet which you must sign. There is a restroom on each bus for your convenience and there will be one stop made during the trip for you to purchase food and stretch your legs. If you have questions that are not answered by this information sheet, please direct them to your bus captains.
- ARRIVAL: The buses departing from the Boston N.O.W. offices at 7pm on Friday night will arrive at Planned Parenthood at 5 am on Saturday. You will be going straight to Clinic Defense. Your bus captain will provide you with the details of clinic defense assignments as well as how to deal with transportation to the clinics and your luggage.
- THE MOBILIZATION: People are asked to gather at the Lincoln Memorial between 11 am and 12 noon. The Rally will be held from 12 noon until 4:30 pm. Look for red and black helium balloons. You will find the Boston delegation below them.
- GETTING HOME AGAIN: You must take the metro to RFK Stadium and board your bus by 7pm. You should take either the Metro Orange Line towards New Carrollton or the Blue Line towards Addison Road from the Smithsonian stop. Get off at the Stadium/Armory Stop (6 stops). RFK Stadium is at this stop. Please leave yourself plenty of time to get on the Metro and to find your bus. The Metro may be crowded as a lot of people will be trying to get back to RFK. Someone from Boston N.O.W. will be at a table in the parking lot and will assist you in locating your bus. Look for the Boston N.O.W. banner or red and black balloons. The buses will leave promptly, so it is very important for your bus captain to have your name. If you are not on the list you may be left behind.

PLEASE SEE MAP ON BACK.

The National Mobilization for Women's Lives November 12, 1989 Washington, D.C.

What is the National Mobilization for Women's Lives?

On Sunday, November 12, 1989, hundreds of thousands of women and men who believe in free choice and equality will rally in Washington, D.C., to voice their conviction that all women have the right to choose a safe and legal abortion. This protest, sponsored by the National Organization for Women, will send a clear message to our government that the pro-choice majority will not stand silently by while our rights are stripped away.

Why is this march so important?

The Supreme Court's July decision in Webster v. Reproductive Services, which allows states to restrict a woman's access to abortion, is a threatening omen for defenders of choice in America. Roe v. Wade, the 1973 landmark case which at last established abortion as a constitutional right, is under serious attack by the courts, the administration, and the state and federal legislatures. Supreme Court cases scheduled for this fall may further limit our freedom to control our bodies. By marching on Washington, we will make it clear to our government that abortion is a national issue, and that we will not allow our most fundamental rights to be subject to the whims of state legislators. We now face the most serious threat to free choice in the sixteen years since Roe v. Wade. We must act now because tomorrow may be too late!

How can I defend my right to choose?

The Harvard/Radcliffe Students for Choice have arranged for busses to transport the Harvard contingent to Washington and back. The busses will leave at 8:30 p.m. on Saturday, November 11, and are expected to return around 3 or 4 a.m. on Monday, November 13. Round-trip tickets will be sold for $40 in the Harvard dining halls and elsewhere; reduced price tickets may be available for those with financial need. If you are interested in helping to organize the Harvard contingent to the march on Washington, we need your ability and enthusiasm! Let us show the nation that the students, faculty and employees of Harvard/Radcliffe are committed to choice.
